- Respond appropriately to other requests for data, advice, or letters of support.
- Manage the ongoing collection of harvest data and other community observations.
- Analyze harvest data to identify management trends.
- Manage periodic reviews of the GRRB's approved Research and Management Priorities (RMPs).
- Manage the ongoing collection of community research and management interests (RMI).
- Help bridge scientific and community knowledge.
- Produce reports (technical and plain language, as appropriate).
- Administer and manage financial contribution agreements.
- Regularly engage and liaise with the RRCs, harvesters, and other relevant stakeholders.

Requirements (Applicants MUST demonstrate they meet the following):

- Bachelor of Science in Biology, Environmental Sciences, Renewable Resources, or a related field. Relevant combination of education and work experience may be considered.
- Knowledge of the GRRB's mandate and the role of co-management in the North.
- Ability to understand, appreciate, and act upon cross cultural differences.
- Excellent organization, planning, and time management skills.
- Strong communication, listening, and interpersonal skills, including public speaking.
- Excellent computer skills, including Microsoft Office.
- Experience with data analysis, statistics and knowledge of basic database administration.
- Strong writing skills (technical and plain language).
- Experience with financial management.
- Northwest Territories Class 5 Driver's license or equivalent.
- Candidate must be eligible to work in Canada.
- Criminal Records Check will be required.

Assets (Preference will be given to applicants that meet the following):

- Priority will be given to qualified Participants of the Gwich'in Comprehensive Land Claim Agreement and residents of the Northwest Territories.
- Experience working in the Canadian north and with northern Indigenous communities.
- Knowledge of the regulatory system in the NWT.

Starting Salary: $80,000 per year
